

What to study...

- Linguistics. An Introduction, William B. McGregor, Bloomsbury, 2015 [2nd Edition] Chapter: 4 (some topics are discussed in the “Morphology” slides); 6.1; 6.2 (pages 140-142 excluded).
- Slides collected under the name 'Lexicology and Lexical Semantics'. Slides 20-33 provide an overview of the structure of the Italian lexicon: it is not required to study and memorize all the information on these slides, as their primary purpose is to provide examples of some of the concepts discussed, including the categorization of the lexicon, individual lexicon, and borrowing processes.
- PDF files 'Lexeme – Aronoff', 'Lexicon – Aronoff', 'Synonymy – Aronoff', and 'Lexicology Semantics Integration'. These reading materials refer to topics examined in class but not (fully) covered in the textbook.
