Padova Philosophy Summer School
Philosophical Controversies about Objectivity in Classical German Philosophy and Contemporary Analytic Philosophy
Padova, 12-23 September 2016

What is objectivity? And what is objective? How do we manage to disagree with each other if something is objectively there? What's more, how can we understand our mutual disagreement? What happens when we disagree? How can we deal with disagreement?

The summer school "Philosophical Controversies about Objectivity" intends to offer an in-depth understanding of some important philosophical disputes, both of the past and present, relating to objectivity as well as the necessary analytical tools for a critical investigation of these debates.
